MESSAGE ARCHIVE SEARCH

Access Global Relay Archive within Outlook

Retrieve any type of message from within Outlook. Global Relay Search for Outlook is a convenient plug-in that allows users to quickly and easily search their historical messages directly within Outlook. It is an integrated part of Global Relay Archive, which provides a unified searchable archive of email, attachments, instant messages, Thomson Reuters, Bloomberg, BlackBerry, Social Networks (LinkedIn, Facebook, Twitter) and more.

Integrate archive searches into your daily email workflow. Global Relay Search for Outlook lets users search a complete, tamper-proof archive of every type of message sent to or from their accounts. Users can enter search criteria, view results, open messages, copy messages to folders, and create folders in a single Outlook windows.

Convenience & Productivity

Never lose messages again. Users can also restore any type of message from Global Relay Archive to their Outlook inbox instantly — even if the original message has been deleted. Non-email message types can also be restored to the inbox as unified conversation transcripts, preserving the context and allowing for easy reading, forwarding and printing. With Global Relay Search for Outlook, users have the capability to find lost messages themselves, saving IT support time and resources.

Reduce dependence on email folders. With Global Relay Archive service, no message is ever deleted from the archive. Since searching is fast and intuitive, users do not need to spend time categorizing individual messages into folders — a quick search is all that is needed to retrieve any historical message. Global Relay's proprietary multi-node indexing technology ensures that any search can be completed in seconds.
